Issue #20 of

DOWN 'N' DIRTY

July 19, 1982

cranked out more or less on the run by Dirty Dave Marshall of Rt.3, Box 361-A, Russellville (sic), KY 42276. Phoned-in orders discouraged (or at least not encouraged).

Last week was not an auspicious one for DnD #20. The state police finally shut down the white bootlegger, cutting off our only dependable local beer supply (nearest legal is 25 miles), and my boss did something silly with a trash fire and a can of kerosene. He'll recover, but will be out of action for several weeks more. So guess who fills in as administrative manager in the lurch? If you ever feel your supervisor has it soft, just try doing his job and yours for a while. I never realized how much of his was carried out at pleasant but time-consuming dinner meetings -- or how putting together a literate spiel on the state of the project budget can eat into a weekend. I hope by next issue he'll be back, but in the meantime I'm sparing you guys an over-long delay and just cranking this out bare-bones, since every other evening this week is already kaput. DEADLINE for all games in this issue is MONDAY, AUGUST 16.

Houserule clarification: Draw votes herein require a "unanimous" agreement. I'm defining "unanimous" as consisting of all players in the game submitting orders that season. If you oppose the draw but NMR, too bad. No "standing" votes permitted. Got it?

I promised to plug Bill Highfield's THE MODERN PATRIOT so here it is. I've never seen his GMing but have signed up on faith, as have Michalski and others. See DnD-2 press for a foretaste of the zine's philosophy. Bill may wise up as he gets older but for now it could be fun (2012 Ridge Rd. East, Rochester, NY 14622; Gf $3, Sf $5/12 issues).

SUMMER and FALL 1906 orders are due by the deadline shown on page 1. Some PRESS, too:

POPE to ENGLISHMAN: Do you know why Princess Diana asked for a divorce? Because she found out all rulers don't have 12 inches.

LONDON: In a speech to the Lower House, Lord Hume praised the Pope's withdrawal from Portugal last year. "This proves that the Italian's wish for peace matches our own. We must disengage ourselves from all connection with the Kaiser and his hungry hordes. We must join with the Popoe in an attempt to bring peace to this troubled world." Lord Hume's speech was interrupted at this point by news of the English invasion of Portugal.

BERLIN: In a surprise speech today, Advisor Ronald Reagan stated the following: "It is ironic that Germany's/England's colors are BLACK AND BLUE respectively, for this is the color Turkey and Italy will be when we're through with them!" In response to his patriotic speech, hundreds of thousands of citizens rushed to enlistment centers, enabling the German High Command to form 2 more Army groups. In a related story, Pres. Highfield denounced the Pope as being "hopelessly senile and definitely NOT human!" He then announced the birth of the REAGANITIC CHURCH with himself as Pope. The entire country was reportedly celebrating Pope Highfield's new position and toasting the death and destruction of Italy and Turkey.

POPE HIGHFIELD to GM: It's about time another radical entered this zine; Michalski's had to fend for himself too long. Viva Reagan!! ((I never noticed Michalski having any problems fending for himself. And don't you mean "reactionary" instead of "radical"? As for Reagan -- at his age, he needs all the "Vivas" he can get.))

GERMANY to ENGLAND: United we stand, divided we fall. Death to Turkey, Death to Italy, Long Live Reagan!! Why don't you convert from Anglican to Reaganism as a show of unity??

BERLIN to SEVASTOPOL: I'll continue to help you.

GERMANY to ITALY & TURKEY: If one or both of you stabbed the other, you're stupid. If you didn't, well...it was a nice attempt.

DATELINE BERLIN: Germany is in shock upon receipt of Al Haig's resignation as Secretary of State for the U.S. This was so he could increase his workload with us and ensure the downfall of Italy and Turkey. He'll return when we're through with him.

The 4-way draw proposal failed. Barno did not vote, but the draw would've bombed anyway. See elsewhere in this issue for a HR clarification concerning draw votes and NMRs. FALL 1911 orders are due here by deadline shown on page 1. PRESS follows:

We've had two suggestions for names for this game: The Bozos' and The Junkies' (given the cast of characters and the opening moves, I might also suggest The General Belgrano Pro-Am). Additional suggestions, comments, or votes ar up to you; game names here are optional but traditional ~~and dumb~~. Note the COA for Tal Seaman on page 1: just as well, since I never figured out what "L.B.C." was. Got a phone, Tal? FALL 1901 orders are due at my place by the deadline shown on page 1. PRESS follows: Stafford too!

PAR to MUN: Don't be upset with the move to Burgundy, it's only to protect Belgium.

BERLIN to MOSCOW: Ruski pow, Ruski pow!

CON to EUROPE: The Sultan of Turkey has been deposed and will be replaced by Ayatollah Pustilnik.
